Celebrating "Barnstorming Book Tour" Success with Paperback Edition: Sticks & Wires & Cloth by Anne Hopkins

Anne Hopkins, author of Sticks & Wires & Cloth, recently returned home to Tucson, Arizona, after flying her 1929-design biplane over 10,000 miles, 6.5 weeks, and 110.7 hours in the air across America on her "Barnstorming Book Tour." To relive the tour, including the surprise ending, see Anne's leg-by-leg photo journal at www.TEBooks.com. Anne is available for media interviews. To schedule, please contact her directly at 520-297-4738 or annehopkins@tebooks.com.

Editors from newspapers of the small towns Anne visited on her extraordinary journey have universally praised the book, newly released in paperback (ISBN 0-9720015-1-4, $21.95).

“...Armchair pilots who have enjoyed the works of Richard Bach (Jonathan Livingston seagull, Stranger to the Ground, Illusions: Adventures of a Reluctant Messiah) should prepare to sit back in the easy chair and fly the skies with Anne Hopkins and... the bundle of ‘sticks and wires and cloth’ that forms the unforgettable Nanna...” The Monett Times, Monett Missouri

“... the most vivid impressions of biplane flying experience to be had without actually climbing into one and taking off. Sticks & Wires & Cloth is a unique and welcome addition to any personal or community library Aviation Studies collection.” Midwest Book Review, Oregon, Wisconsin

“With remarkable detail and a poetic voice... From technical explanations of flight to character portraits of those she meets along the way, Hopkins is never at a loss of description...” The Spirit, Punxsutawney, Pennsylvania

“...smooth beautifully crafted language...” Daily Sun, Beatrice, Nebraska

“...will remind you that we should all have a place in our lives where we feel completely free and at ease, a place to forget about our worries and the everyday hassles than can wear us down over time.” The Voyageur Sentinel, Orr, Minnesota

The hardcover edition (ISBN 0-9720015-0-6, $26.95) is also available at retail book outlets. For autographed, first edition copies, order from www.TEBooks.com. eBook editions in all popular formats are coming soon.
